What: 2018 Chief Wellness Officer Training for Physician Well-Being
The Stanford Medicine WellMD Center is offering an innovative and highly interactive one-week workshop for approximately 35 participants. Each day is composed of a combination of lectures, activities and interactions designed to help participants cultivate expertise in the principles and applications that contribute to physician well-being, using the Stanford Physician Wellness framework and extensive experience of the course faculty.

When: June 24-29, 2018

Faculty: Stanford Medicine and National Physician Wellness Experts
Tait Shanafelt, M.D., Chief Wellness Officer for Stanford Medicine, is the course director. The faculty is composed of Stanford WellMD Center leaders and select national physician wellness experts.

Learning Objectives:
After completing this workshop participants will have gained:

- Leadership skills to spearhead their organization’s physician wellness efforts
- Knowledge and hands-on experience developing a customized strategic plan to build and sustain a physician well-being program for their organization
- Expertise in the principles and applications that contribute to physician well-being including creating an efficient practice environment, cultivating personal resilience, and developing an organizational culture that fosters engagement and professional fulfillment (i.e. a culture of wellness).
