

Health for Healers (H4H) Research Group

H4H is a collaborative group for researchers interested in practical evaluation research, including the design, implementation, and evaluation of interventions to improve physician wellness. We aim to demonstrate: (1) the relationship between physician wellness and patient outcomes and (2) interventions that improve physician wellness also improve patient outcomes and cost effectiveness of medical care.

Join us at the Health for Healers Research Group

We believe physician wellness is imperative for improved quality of patient care, ethical and effective training of future physicians, and the quality of life of physicians and their families.
